

BRIDGING THE GAP IN HEALTHCARE IT

HEALTHCARE IT

There are a lot of IT companies that claim to 'know' healthcare. They claim to improve clinical outcomes and patient care. You probably have a talented team of people on your staff that can do all of that and more. Why would you expect an IT provider to do that better than you?

What you should expect from your IT provider is a partner who understands healthcare challenges, and can bring the very best IT expertise to the table, helping you solve both complex and challenging healthcare IT projects.

At NIC Partners we offer a different kind of promise. We promise to work closely with your team to plan, design and implement any type of complex healthcare project that ultimately improves clinical outcomes, financial performance and regulatory compliance. Having worked with some of the biggest healthcare providers in Southern California, we've experienced the challenges you face in design, implementing and fostering staff adoption of new technologies.

We understand the gap between the internal mandates on your time/resources and the expertise needed to get the job done, giving you the ability to deliver and improve the end-user experience.

WE HELP YOU DELIVER:

- NIC Partners has the relationships and experience in state-of-the-art healthcare environments
- We've built customer loyalty through proven ability to do what's right and exceed customer expectations
- We have the ability to collaboratively architect a masterful design and implement and train successfully

A partner to our partners...that is NICP HealthWorks
